

Notes Dates that may be implied from the years shown on the horizontal axis should be considered to be indicative only. This is not a programme. The sequencing of activities shown is appropriate, but durations and timings are tentative. In practice they will depend on many factors, including availability of resources (both AGS and external), issues arising from industry consultation and any technical challenges that may arise.

For more information on AGSi, visit: <https://www.ags.org.uk/data-format/agsi-ground-model/>

Ultimate goal is AGSi established and in regular use within the industry (initially ground engineering, then more general)